HATTERAS 80

Capable of 25 knot speeds, the 80 goes as good as it looks. All the staterooms and the salon are spacious, while the helm affords great visibility.

The Hatteras tradition of building sturdy fiberglass hull boats began nearly 45 years ago off the coast of North Carolina, with the launch of the firm's first sportfisherman. The solid fiber glass hull has since become a signature of all Hatteras yachts. In fact, the firm claims to have built the first motoryacht with a solid 'glass hull. The latest addition to its fleet is this new 80' model, which delivers elegance with the stable, soft ride Hatteras is famous for.

The sporty exterior lines hint at the performance capabilities. Stylish and aggressive, the profile is nicely accentuated by curved window frames and a rakish radar arch. Beneath the good looks, the solid hull ensures strength and durability, backed by a five-year warranty. Some of the more notable features lie beneath the waterline, out of sight, such as the prop tunnels which inspire confidence while running in relatively shallow waters.

The yacht boasts a host of standard features that create a welcome atmosphere for extended passages. The sumptuous interior features African mahogany wood cabinetry, bullnose moldings, arched doors, granite countertops, custom furnishings, and more.

The aft deck gives way to the main salon through curved, stainless doors, where it becomes clear the interior design makes full use of the 21' 3" beam. It features a full wet bar, located so as to easily serve guests both on the aft deck as well as those in the salon. Other notable creature comforts include a 42" plasma TV. To port is a large sectional sofa flanked by two club chairs. Further ahead, the dining table seats six, with the galley to port for ease of serving. The galley is well-appointed with granite countertops, dishwasher, trash compactor, Sub-zero™ refrigerator, microwave/convection oven, and a four-burner ceramic cooktop.

Further forward lies the spacious and open pilothouse. It features dual helm chairs, raised lounges with granite tables, pantograph doors to port and starboard, and a day head for convenience. The helm is equipped with the latest in electronics and incorporates the debut of Hatteras' new PC Monitoring System. This system utilizes touch-screen technology to monitor all systems on the yacht, including oil pressure, engine diagnostics, fuel and water levels, bilge alarms, grey water levels, and much more.

The truly massive fly bridge is home to a second display for the PC Monitoring System. This area is ideal for open air entertaining with two large L-shaped lounges, a sun pad, and a wet bar with refrigerator, icemaker, sink, and stools. The fly bridge can also be outfitted with an optional hot tub.

Four well-appointed staterooms are located on the lower deck. All feature ensuite heads with a choice of granite or marble flooring and countertops. The full-beam master stateroom lies amidships. The port VIP and bow staterooms offer queen berths, while the starboard stateroom has a twin berth with a Pullman berth above. Two crew staterooms are located all the way aft, to ensure owner and guest privacy.

Notable options include an enclosed flybridge with an entertainment center, which allows for an expanded galley and salon below.
