Sea Ray's 250 Select EX fits most caps from the family to the entertainer to the angler.

From the yacht club to family raft-ups, the Sea Ray 250 Select EX can take whatever you throw at it and comes primed for fun with state-of-the-art components and conveniences. The 250 Select EX epitomises the way so many Australian families go boating. Options include topping it off with a watersports tower or fibreglass arch with bimini, though the latter is not suitable for stacked storage. Seaworthiness, together with a 21° deadrise, enables a soft ride for a safe arrival home, even in rough conditions.

In smooth-flowing American style and design, many creature comforts are included, like a walk-in head so the family can extend their cruising grounds, and transom shower. The 250 Select EX is the perfect entertainer with cockpit wet bar, optional 12V fridge, Clarion marine stereo, freshwater system and tap, plus more, and best discovered by looking at their on-line brochure. The car-style dashboard has room for more instruments, though not too large. However, the range of factory instrumentation would suit all but the most 'techo' boat owner.

Steering wheel mounted VCS (Vessel Control System) delivers instant access to all Smartcraft and stereo features. Not forgetting the practical side, there's an optional powered windlass and when fishing, just leave the cockpit carpet at home to reveal a full fibreglass liner ready for action. The 250 Select EX produces a degree of space, style and practicality that only a Sea Ray bowrider can deliver. For more information, phone Michael Ross on (03) 9767 6424, or visit www.searay.com
